PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Again, we are calling for nominations for officers and directors of Ill. N. A. Please send them in to nominations committee chairman Jim Kaczor as soon as possible.

Each year we meet with only the slightest success, but we do find a few willing to serve. These members are willing to give up several Sundays a year — and spend extra time helping our organization remain strong. If you, or friends of yours, are interested, contact Jim. Clubs which have no representatives on the Ill. N. A. board have only themselves to blame.

This year's convention at Arlington Heights will certainly be the biggest ever. We anticipate the finest group of displays outside of ANA — a sight well worth viewing. If you cannot make the ANA, then come to Ill. N. A.; in fact, come anyway. Sunday afternoon will feature a round table discussion on "How to Display." The experts will be there.

Show times and dates are scarce in the summer, but I plan to attend what shows I can with my wife — Julia. If anyone has questions about Ill. N. A., please ask me. I don't get outside Central Illinois much, so for the rest of our members, I shall be at the Ill. N. A. table Friday night of the convention.

Both individuals and clubs have good ideas for Ill. N. A.; but some of you have told me you never know how to get an idea presented. At the annual meeting (1 p.m., Saturday of the convention), after reports, the floor is open to old and new business. ANYONE — not just Ill. N. A. board members — can make statements, proposals, etc. at that time. Be there, and if necessary — ask before the meeting just what to do.

So far, no organization has responded to our request for bids for the Ill. N. A. convention for 1978. That's next year! It's not too late to get your bid in, but due to the shortness of time remaining, the board will probably award the convention to the organization presenting the first acceptable bid. Don't delay! Send your bid directly to me. We also have not received a bid for the 1979 convention, so if you feel that you will not be able to be fully prepared by 1978, make your bid for 1979. Remember, in recent years, the holding of an Ill. N. A. State Convention has been worth thousands of dollars to the host organization.

I look forward to seeing you at ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

— Larry

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Please let me bring to your attention a serious omission in the reporting of ILLNA convention events! Two issues of the "Coin Digest" have appeared since the convention, but no mention has been made, in either issue, of the competitive exhibits or award winners. You may be aware that I inaugurated a new award for displays of obsolete currency for ILLNA in 1976 . . . . I (expected) these criteria (governing eligibility of exhibited material) to be published in various numismatic periodicals in order to attract new exhibitors . . . . A brief announcement did appear in the Summer Coin Digest, but gave none of the requirements for eligibility of exhibits . . . . only one entry qualified for this new award. Had the award been properly publicized, who knows how many other qualifying entries would have appeared? Apparently ILLNA does (not) appreciate my donating this award! If the organization wishes the award continued, I must insist that a complete account of same, and the criteria for qualification, be published not only in the Coin Digest, but also in Coin World, Numismatic News, the Numismatist, the Numismatic Scrapbook, etc. . . . . Please accept my criticism as constructive, and feel free to call upon me for any assistance you may need, should you wish the award to be continued.

MAURICE M. BURGETT

The Maurice Burgett Award was publicized with 1/4 page ads in both the Spring and Summer COIN DIGESTS, every issue that appeared between the adoption of this award by Ill N. A. April 25, 1976 and the state convention. Neither the criteria for eligibility nor the names of the winners of this or any other exhibit award have ever been furnished me by the exhibit chairman or anyone else In view of the impossibility of complying with Mr. Burgett's requirements (the Numismatic Scrapbook magazine ceased publication two months before we adopted this award, the Numismatist doesn't publish the requirements for the ANA's own awards, and we have no control over what the newspapers print either), I will move at the next board meeting that Ill N. A. discontinue this award immediately. — EDITOR

A Trial Listing of Illinois Anniversary Pieces

By Leroy J. Kaczor and Robert D. Leonard Jr.

This listing of medals and souvenir coins makes no pretense at completeness. To be sure, that is the very reason for its publication. We are hoping for a response from the membership so that in the future, we may have a list at least close to "complete." Send your additions and corrections to Mr. L. J. Kaczor, 1306 Hollycrest Dr., Champaign, Ill. 61820.

The listing contains only pieces from Illinois: anniversaries of 25, 50, 75, 100, 125, 150 years, etc. from villages towns, counties, and cities. In some few instances parks, clubs, etc. have issued medals. These will be included. No items issued by businesses or companies, of which there are many, will be listed, however. Wooden nickels are excluded also. (For a complete list of Illinois anniversary wooden nickels through 1965, refer to Thomas Hudson's Guide Book of Wooden Money.)

There are two types of these anniversary pieces. The first is strictly a medal; it states the place of origin and the reason for its issue only. The second is like the first except that it says GOOD FOR FIFTY CENTS IN TRADE (or some other amount), making it a token.

The first list will be just basics: 1) Name of issuing location; 2) Metal, if known, abbreviated as B (bronze or brass), S (silver), or N (Nickel, nickel-silver, or copper-nickel).

THE WAY JACK SEES IT

By Jack D. Huggins, Sr.

How did you like my last article? I attended the Will County Coin Club annual show in Joliet, Illinois, and it seems like everyone I spoke to expressed an opinion on that article. Our good, excellent Editor of the COIN DIGEST stated at our board meeting that day that he did not have any article for the COIN DIGEST and would someone please send him one. Well, this got me thinking, so I just decided to sit down, and express not an opinion, but THE WAY JACK SEES IT. But, before we get started, may I say I think over half of our Ill. N. A. members missed a treat—you failed to attend the Will County Coin Show, so I am going to tell you in my own words that you failed to see THE WAY JACK SAW IT.

That day the skies did not have a cloud in them. Bob was busy putting up coin show signs on Larkin at Jefferson, showing the way to the coin show. When we arrived the first ones to greet us were Mr. Miller and again Mr. Miller. My old friend Mr. Miller had his usual interesting table as you entered the door, and we hadn't seen one another since a month of Sundays. Of course, the other Mr. Miller—better known as Treasurer of Ill. N. A.—was busy at his table, along with his charming wife, who was busy selling donuts. We promptly set up our display, meeting across from my exhibit Mr. Frank Smetana and, of course, Mr. Voss and his two daughters were setting up their exhibits directly in back of Frank. Bob was working very hard on his, after completing the erection of all the signs.

Well, we visited every dealer table. The majority or rather 95% of them I had never seen before because I seldom attend shows in the Chicago area. I have a list of shows in Northern Illinois I have attended; they are Freeport, Aurora, Northbrook, Kankakee, Watseka, La-Salle-Peru, Moline, and that's all. But I am looking forward to attending the Arlington Heights show, and many others. Won't you let me know, and I will add yours to my want list of shows I want to attend.

So I was kept busy looking at everything, but as far as a dealer is concerned, I am worthless, because I did not buy one thing. I did see some St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 elongated cents, but I forgot to go back and buy them after the Ill. N. A. meeting. When you have dedicated yourself to further Ill. N. A. by serving on the board, you must attend all meetings, and of course this takes time away from our mutual love, the coin show itself.

For a while, I sat behind a table at the door handing out the COIN DIGEST, offering to sign as sponsor for anyone desiring to become a member. I concentrated on the youth, or a father with his son or daughter. And speaking of father and son, there was a gentleman at the show whom I did not know. We overheard him explaining to his son, who was a junior exhibitor, what to do to improve his exhibit and put it in the winning circle. I must say the youngster received a nice trophy, but evidently not among the first three, as it was not engraved. That is one thing I would like to point out to all coin clubs, when you have a junior class buy 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place trophies but, in addition, purchase a few extras and call them what you want but give them to all juniors who enter. The father was explaining to his son that everyone seems to elevate the coins off the bottom of the case, and that they should go to the hardware store and see if they could find something to do this with his coins. Good idea, but it's not the point; the point is to emphasize the coin, or bring out the coin to the viewer's attention. I feel it is a complement personally when I see an exhibit using rosettes, notary seals, or some sort of stickers underneath the coin, or some arrangement around the coin. Now for newer exhibits I have changed using circles, squares, rectangles, or double or even triple elevations of different colors of plastic. I would also like to make a point; I think if they would attend an exhibit at a larger coin show that furnishes exhibit cases, they would either buy, borrow, or make one, as the boy's exhibit appeared to be housed in a picture frame. I remember my old friends using picture frames, Earl, from Joliet, and good old Chick, from Clinton. I too have a couple of exhibits in picture frames; I have never shown them, as they are rather difficult to transport, but this encourages me to do so in the future.

Well, perhaps Bill Miller can supply me with the name and address of that father and son. Do you know him? I'd like to see both at Arlington Heights. I have nothing to do with my favorite part of the show again this year, that it exhibits, but will give them a plug. Jim Kaczor and William Salow are in charge of them, and Jim told me applications are available, so be sure and get yours and study over the rules and regulations. This will be the first time in five years that I won't select and buy the plaques; we will be missing the usual engraved plaques with the .999 silver Ill. N. A. medal glued on them. Instead, the board voted to buy useful awards, something the exhibitor can put to use, rather than trophies and plaques. My suggestion to the Northwest Suburban Coin Club was to buy a desk barometer and combine it with a thermometer or clock for first, second, and third. To sum it up, meet me in Arlington Heights with an exhibit.

NOW THE WAY JACK SEES IT. Two major points this time. Something has to be done on the subject of insurance for dealers and exhibitors. It seems like we are in need of an honorable insurance company to underwrite our coins in the event of a loss. When I was in the U.S. Army Finance Corps, being a Disbursing Officer I was issued, along with a pencil, a side arm (pistol). I carried it for years in the Army. I found then it was my best friend with all that money around. I find it so today; it is our best insurance. Carry a side arm and use it when necessary; be careful, protect yourself and your coins. This is the best insurance one can have. But also, I do believe that if we look long and hard enough we could locate an honest insurance company. I know it's hard, as I never found one, but since the carrier has canceled the A.N.A. dealers' coin insurance, we must do something. You know they can send you junk mail constantly about life, health, etc. insurance, and God knows we need it. So let us find a carrier among us. I belong to MOON (Minnesota Organization Of Numismatists), and they carry an ad in their bulletin about insurance. I wrote the agency but never heard, just like in the Michigan state bulletin you see a travel agency constantly running an ad about an excursion to the A.N.A. Convention every year — I always write them but never hear. I guess they cannot do business with Illinois residents. But if any of you know of a suitable insurance carrier, let me know, as we all need it, besides our side arm. Some dealers have their life savings invested in their inventory of coins and some exhibitors have the same, so let us do something about it as it seems that A.N.A. won't. Let us do it for the good of our fellow collector. That is the way Jack sees it.

Second topic: complaints. Yes, I said criticism. This is the department of gripes, so let me hear them, assemble them, tabulate them, and bring the problem to a head. We have never had that department, and as Bill Miller said, when he wore an Ill. N. A. badge he felt proud and so wanted the Northwest Suburban Coin Club to buy Ill. N. A. officers ribbons so our good members would know who is working for them and whom they should come to complaints with at the convention. I jumped up and seconded his idea. We should have it be known that any Ill. N. A. officer should devote 100% of his attention to listening to members' complaints, but most of all, to doing something about them. So write me, you will get an answer from me, through our secretary in writing or a call from me personally, in the event I don't see you at the next coin show.

Most complaints I have received in the past two years deal with exhibiting, particularly judges' abilities—why they scored so low. This is very important. I have for the last year fought with one judge at the 1976 Decatur show; I have told him to his face he has never exhibited and the only time he did set up an exhibit, he forgot his coins. It was a three-day show, and each day he went home he still forgot to bring them, and his exhibit remained up the entire show. We are friendly in our fighting, as I hope he is a friend, but he should not judge, he should exhibit and learn by doing.

We had an excellent judge at Decatur, and I hope he can judge again, Mr. Maurice Burgett. I say this because he is a personal friend of mine, and I do not want you to confuse him with the other judge I criticized. The third judge at Decatur, Mr. A.N.A. — Glenn Smedley, is an excellent man, but along with yours truly, is getting a little in the autumn years and doesn't get around as well as in the good old days.

Now for Arlington Heights: I brought this to the attention of the board. Jim Kaczor has promised the board he will personally select the judges and be responsible for their actions. I am sure many exhibitors along with Exhibitor Jack (that is the other Jack from across the river into Iowa) will be happy. This, if not done to your own satisfaction, will be brought to the board's attention, and I promise you in 1978 it will be done correctly.

Ill. N. A. is second only to A.N.A. now in my opinion and you will see this in Arlington Heights; over 109 dealers, two floors, and not one but two exhibit rooms with a guard full time in each exhibit room (per the General Chairman's promise to the board) with all the exhibit cases you need furnished to you to display your coins for others to see. After all, Ill. N. A. thanks you. We have nine classes, with special awards given by Maurice Burgett for Obsolete Currency. (Editor's Note: This award is liable to be discontinued — see Letter to the Editor) and we hope a special award in addition for Private Mint Issues. And we have this year the Educational Award given by Oliver Horton again. So the exhibit area promises you nine classes with three awards each, or 27 in all, two or three additional awards, and of course, the Best of Show, which may be sponsored by the Lewis M. Reagan Foundation again if I am successful in obtaining their approval. Now, in addition, we will have the Winners Circle; we are inviting all previous Best of Show winners to bring — in addition to their regular exhibit — that certain exhibit that in a past year (since 1959) won Best of Show, to compete in a separate class, for the Winners Circle award: Best of Best of Shows. We are copying this from our neighbor Iowa State, who started this in 1976. My old friend, Jack Tilton, won in 1976 in the name of the late Lowell Owens who gave this trophy. I thought it would be nice, perhaps, to name this our Illinois one also. I am sure we can think about this; I might suggest the late William Wiles or the late Harold Phillips in the event either had won Best of Show at our state convention. Let us do some research and select a few names from our deceased brothers who were faithful exhibitors, ones you could count on at all times to support a show by setting up a nice exhibit. I will go through our listing of previous winners, but I have just listed the last ten years, and thank God they are all living. So let me hear from you.

Now for the big one. We are also encouraging non-competitive exhibits, but we must limit the size of same to five cases. The party must be invited by the Exhibit Chairman or the President of Ill. N. A. and must make arrangements well in advance. A good friend of mine from Olney walked in last year at Decatur and they were unable to accommodate him. He had a beautiful exhibit but not with him; he had left it at home, only bringing pictures of it. I have since seen this breathtaking display and personally feel that if it were placed in cases and met the five-case limit, it would be beneficial to have it on display. Being in a noncompetitive class, the exhibitor and his lovely secretary could be in attendance throughout the convention, explaining it to all viewers and asking them to sign the guest register. I praise this type of spirit among our members, those willing to give of themselves, and admire him sharing his collection, or should I say the college's collection, with all viewers. Years ago I admired a push button talking record exhibit, and I think this added to the show, but when we can get the creator of this display to stand for 15 hours straight three days in a row, if his health permits, I think we should encourage all others interested to do so also. I for one will volunteer.

We have a general membership meeting scheduled for Saturday afternoon during the State Convention. I might say, it has not been well attended in the past. Won't you attend? Or better still, if you write me in advance I will compile a list of speakers in the event you are not there and advise me in time that you can't come, and I will see to it that five minutes are allotted to read your points. I have another suggestion: in the event you cannot attend the general membership meeting and would like to make a record of your point, record it on tape, limiting it to, say, five minutes, and we will play it at the convention and send you a recorded answer on the remaining portion of your tape. Send tapes to me; they will not be edited, but will be played as received. Merely identify yourself, stating your name and membership number, and say it as you would do if you were physically present.
